zygmunt bauman s new book is a brilliant exploration from a sociological point of view of the taboo subject in modern societies death and dying the book develops a new theory of the ways in which human mortality is reacted to and dealt with in social institutions and culture the hypothesis explored in the book is that the necessity of human beings to live with the constant awareness of death accounts for crucial aspects of the social organization of all known societies two different life strategies are distinguished in respect of reactions to mortality one the modern strategy deconstructs mortality by translating the insoluble issue of death into many specific problems of health and disease which are soluble in principle the post modern strategy is one of deconstructing immortality life is transformed into a constant rehearsal of reversible death a substitution of temporary disappearance for the irrevocable termination of life this profound and provocative book will appeal to a wide audience it will also be of particular interest to students and professionals in the areas of sociology anthropology theology and philosophy this book presents the research achievements of jin yuelin the first logician and a prominent philosopher in china who founded a new philosophical system combining elements from western and chinese philosophical traditions especially the concept of tao it consists of three sections the first section interprets jin s studies on chinese philosophy russell s ideology and other general discussions in the field section 2 includes jin s studies on logic which made him the founding father of modern logic in china and section 3 presents jin s ideas on politics including his studies on thomas hill green this is a masterful historical portrait of the whole movement of calvinism for general readers and scholars alike intellectually rich and provocative this is a text which belongs in our classrooms as well as on our shelves exceptionally well written contemporary sociology a new afterword to this edition the duty to remember but what tackles difficult issues of guilt and innocence on the individual and societal levels zygmunt bauman explores the silences found in debates about the holocaust and asks what the historical facts of the holocaust tell us about the hidden capacities of present day life he finds great danger in such phenomena as the seductiveness of martyrdom going to extremes in the name of safety the insidious effects of tragic memory and efficient scientific implementation of the death penalty bauman writes once the problem of the guilt of the holocaust perpetrators has been by and large settled the one big remaining question is the innocence of all the rest not the least the innocence of ourselves among the conditions that made the mass extermination of the holocaust possible according to bauman the most decisive factor was modernity itself bauman s provocative interpretation counters the tendency to reduce the holocaust to an episode in jewish history or to one that cannot be repeated in the west precisely because of the progressive triumph of modern civilization he demonstrates rather that we must understand the events of the holocaust as deeply rooted in the very nature of modern society and in the central categories of modern social thought
